Principal Aviation Launches Navigator Access Jet Card, Prioritizing Protection of Client Funds

New private aviation program leverages Citizens Bank's accessESCROW solution to safeguard prepaid funds, providing clients with individual account visibility at no additional cost.

Boca Raton, Fla. – November 27, 2026 – As private aviation travelers take to the skies for the Thanksgiving holiday weekend and prepare for a busy year-end travel season, Principal Aviation today announced the launch of its Navigator Access Jet Card, a new private aviation program designed to address one of the industry's most pressing concerns: the protection of prepaid jet card funds.

At a time when financial uncertainty surrounding some private aviation providers has raised questions about traditional prepaid membership models, Principal Aviation is putting financial protection at the forefront of its new program through Citizens Bank's accessESCROW solution.

Through accessESCROW, each Navigator Access Jet Card member receives an individual, segregated account number within Citizens Bank, with funds held separately from Principal Aviation's operating account. Members have the ability to log in and view their funds at any time, providing direct visibility into their prepaid balance. This financial safeguard is provided at no additional cost to the jet card member.

"Trust is the foundation of private aviation, and we believe that trust starts with how a company handles its clients' money and protects the people who entrust themselves to fly with us," said Lee Simon, Partner at Principal Aviation. "In developing Navigator Access, we put financial protection at the forefront by leveraging accessESCROW to ensure client funds are held separately from our operating funds. Our clients deserve to know where their money is held and have the ability to see it for themselves."

A New Standard for Transparency and Flexibility

Unlike traditional jet card programs that may limit customers to a narrow range of aircraft or require separate memberships for different travel needs, Navigator Access provides fixed hourly rates for aircraft ranging from turboprops and light jets to ultra-long-range aircraft capable of international travel.

The program combines the predictability of fixed-rate private aviation with the flexibility to select the aircraft category best suited for each trip, whether a short regional business meeting, a family vacation or an intercontinental journey.

Key program features include:

- Financial protection: Client funds held through Citizens Bank's accessESCROW solution, separate from Principal Aviation's operating account
- Direct account visibility: Individual, segregated account numbers with online access to view funds at any time, at no additional cost to members
- Seven aircraft categories: One balance provides access to turboprops, light jets, midsize jets, super-midsize jets, wide-body super-midsize jets, heavy jets and ultra-long-range aircraft
- Predictable pricing: Fixed hourly rates are locked for 12 months, with billable flight time confirmed before departure
- Year-round access: No blackout dates, with 300 standard travel days and 65 published peak days in 2027
- Responsive booking: As little as 24 hours' notice for domestic flights on standard travel days
- Non-expiring funds: Balances never expire and remain refundable according to the program agreement
- Premium travel benefits: Wi-Fi-equipped aircraft sourced for midsize and larger cabin categories, a $250 catering credit for each day flown and travel concierge services

An Uncompromising Commitment to Safety

While Navigator Access introduces additional financial safeguards, Principal Aviation's commitment to flight safety remains its highest priority. All flights are arranged through carefully vetted, FAA-certificated FAR Part 135 air carriers maintaining ARGUS or Wyvern safety ratings.

“Safety will always remain our No. 1 priority. We will never compromise the safety of our clients by making decisions based solely on cost,” Simon added. “Our philosophy is simple: Clients should never have to compromise financial confidence or safety for the convenience of flying private. They deserve the highest standards of safety, transparency and accountability in every aspect of their aviation experience.”

The program supports domestic and international travel, including Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean and Europe, with additional destinations quoted individually.

The Navigator Access Jet Card is available immediately through Principal Aviation. Prospective clients can speak directly with a dedicated aviation advisor to learn more about the accessESCROW solution, program benefits, pricing and membership terms.
